

MD MEDICAL GROUP COMMISSIONED NEW MULTIDISCIPLINARY CLINICAL HOSPITAL MD LAKHTA

12 January 2022, Moscow – MD Medical Group Investments Plc (“MD Medical Group”, the “Group” or the “Company”, LSE and MOEX: MDMG), a leading Russian private healthcare provider, announces the commissioning of a new multidisciplinary clinical hospital MD Lakhta in St Petersburg.

In January 2022, MD Medical Group opens the clinical hospital for patients in Lakhta area, a historical district of St. Petersburg.

The new two-story medical center is a part of the Strategic Investment Project in St Petersburg. The center provides the following high quality medical services – obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, surgery, therapy, X-ray and laboratory diagnostics. The total area of the center is 9 000 sq. m. The in-patient facility has 150 beds, including 12 in the emergency room. All wards are fitted with equipment to provide patients with oxygen.

During the pandemic MD Lakhta will temporarily focus on providing medical care to patients with infections, including coronavirus. This is the second center of the Group with a similar specialization. The first center has been operating in Moscow region inside the Lapino-4 clinical hospital since the first quarter of 2021.

Total investment in the project amounts to 2 billion rubles. Around 200 new jobs will be created. Patient treatment will be treated under the VHI program, as well as MHI.

The MD Lakhta clinical hospital has been created in accordance with MD Medical Group’s customary high standards of medical care and is fitted with world-class equipment produced by GE, Hamilton, B. Braun, Olympus.

Mark Kurtser, CEO of MD Medical Group, said:

“We are continuing to expand our medical network in St Petersburg, the second largest healthcare market in Russia. The opening of the new hospital confirms our dedication to the company’s strategy aimed at diversification of medical services in our portfolio and geographical expansion into the regions of Russia. During the pandemic MD Lakhta will temporarily focus on providing medical care to patients with infections, including coronavirus. Since February 2021, we have been successfully operating Lapino-4, the first private infectious diseases hospital in Russia. Based on our experience and in the context of COVID-19, we see a significant potential demand for medical services provided for the treatment of infectious diseases, including among pregnant women. By opening multidisciplinary clinical hospital in St Petersburg, we provide access to high quality medical care for the residents of the city”.
